Ready, steady ... Spring

†

Spring is the season that every gardener looks forward to with joy and expectation. It is the time when Mother Nature performs at her best. It produces breathtaking sights all around us in a continuously changing spectacle of bloom and new growth.

Spring is a season of flowers as most of the plants in the garden burst forth into full bloom. Most of these plants have to be planted out as seedlings or young plants in the preceding autumn in order to ensure a magnificent spring display.

†

Make a note in your diary as a reminder for the next autumn planting season.

†

For some unknown reason September is always regarded as the beginning of the new rose season. To grow roses successfully you need to check regularly for any abnormality on the leaves and flowers. So be on the lookout and nip it in the bud as soon as possible.

20 3 l/s

21 columns

22 columns 1 and 2 correct position

Note: This treatment is not recommended for tuft-forming grasses. It should only be applied to runner-type lawns like kikuyu.

A lawn consist of thousands of little baby plants growing in close proximity and just like babies they are always thirsty, hungry and demanding of special attention.

THIS IS HOW YOU DO IT:

23 uc 24 bold 25 italics

26 numerical order

* Take your lawnmower and weed-eater to a reputable agent for a proper service.

27 replace with bullets

* Use a sharp-toothed steel rake and rake the whole lawn vigorously across and down to remove the old dead mat.

28 2 letter spaces

* Mow the lawn quite short to scarify. (Note the exceptions as mentioned above.)

29 indent

* Take a hollow tine or ordinary garden fork and drive it into the turf every 20-30 cm, working the prongs down as far as they can go and wriggling it about.

* Water immediately and thoroughly after feeding.

* Your next step is to feed the lawn and there are many products, both chemical and organic, to choose from.

===page break=== 30

31 centre page 2 vertically

32 stet

An organic top dressing is a wonderful way to smooth out lawn and encourage new growth. Always use a quality product from a reputable supplier. It will contain organic materials that will improve drainage as well as water holding capacity.
