Shadow Girl to the rescue!

The children at New Town School were glad to see Lindi Myeza at school today. For those of you who don't know her, Lindi looks just like any other eleven-year-old schoolgirl, in her uniform and pigtails. But when there is a problem, she instantly turns into a shadow with superhuman strength.

Today, she became angry when the children told her about the three cell phones that had disappeared from the school. She knew New Town School was no longer a safe place to be.

When Lindi and her friend Wendy went out for their 10 o'clock break, they saw a man sitting in a big bakkie just outside the school. They saw him call a small grade 1 child and heard him offer her a ride and a chocolate. "Chocolate my foot!" snorted Lindi. In a second, she was gone and all that was left was a long, dark shadow that stretched right across the street. Shadow Girl was back, and she was going after the man. She immediately saw the three cell phones in his car. Ring ring!

"What's this?" she shouted as she picked up the phones. "Look at this name! This phone belongs to Thabo Ndlovu. And this name, can you read it, is Wendy Smith. What are you doing with their phones?" "I needed to make ... um ... uh ... a call ..." stammered the man. "I'm sorry I took the phones." What was going on? Where was this voice coming from? He started to shake.

"You stole their phones, you crook!" And Shadow Girl twirled the man round on her finger. She lifted him above her head and shook him. A necklace fell from his pocket.

"I know this necklace!" shouted Shadow Girl. "It belongs to my teacher." "Put me down!" muttered the man.

"The only place I will put you, Mister, is into the police van." The man looked down and saw a police van stopping behind them. "He's all yours, constable!" she said. And Shadow Girl disappeared. Her work was done.

Lindi stood inside the school grounds with Wendy, watching and looking as though nothing unusual had happened. In a split second, she was back at her desk, ready to start writing in her workbook. "Now children," said Mrs Smith. "Today let's talk about what we can do to make our neighbourhood safer."

The children all turned to Lindi and grinned.
